From April 11th to April 18th

A seminar & workshop about dances from.
Brittany and Ireland

with Yves LEBLANC
and Patrick O'DEA

Combined with two oser seminars :
- a seminar about dances from. Greece and Bulgary
- a seminar about folk music

Vannes is the main city within the Morbihan gulf.
It is a very nice city, with its roots and architecture from the middle-ages

You can access Vannes very easily with the French TGV, the high-spped train

à Vannes

MORBIHAN (Bretagne)

Yves Leblanc certainly is one of the greatest experts in dances from Brittany
 He graduated in France after studying folk music
 He plays a non-limited number of instruments : clarino, saxo, bag pipes etc.
 He teaches folk dances, social dances, carino & saxo.
 He has written many books about folk dancing
 He trains and coaches teachers
 He has been producing many records of folk music
 He has been a widely-acclaimed teacher and coach for folk music and folk dances, both in France and outside France

Patrick O'Dea has studied with Joe O'Donovan. He now is « the » référence for Irish folk dancing, in the real traditional style. For beginners, he introduces sets which are really easy to be learnt & practiced.

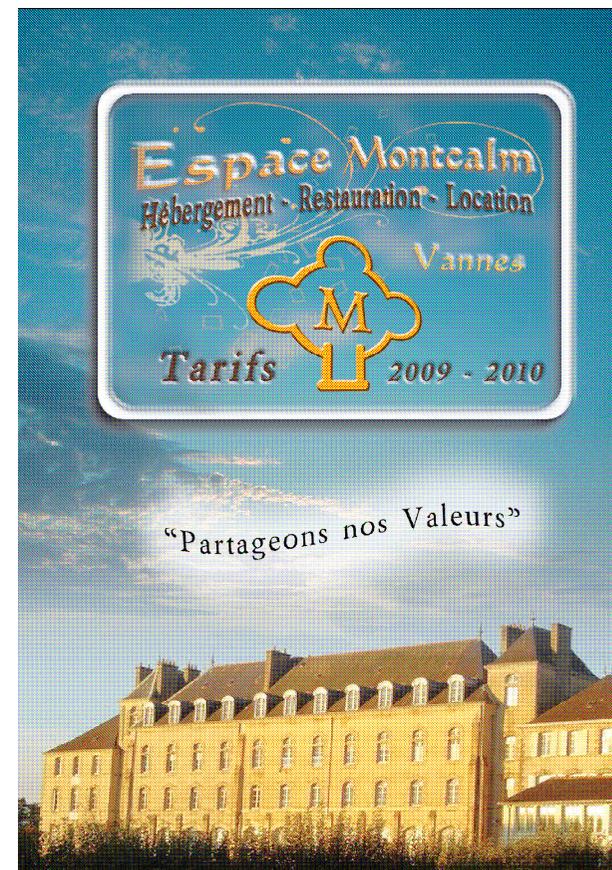

During this seminar about folk dances from Brittany and Ireland, some other dancers and musicians from Bulgaria and Greece will join us and participate.
